

Hi Laura

Thank you for having us out to see Bindy today.

Bindy has a chronic condition called fibrotic myopathy in the muscles of the right medial thigh (gracilis muscle). The muscle was likely injured at one time, and now contains a large amount of scar tissue. The condition does not appear to be painful, but rather creates some mechanical limitations in Bindy's gait due to lack of flexibility in the fibrotic (scarred) muscle.

Should you have any questions, please don't hesitate to call.

Thank you,

Keelin Redmond DVM
